Although the COVID-19 pandemic has overshadowed it, the opiate epidemic is getting worse. In the year ending May, 2020, over 80,000 people died from drug overdoses. Addiction is a disease. Those suffering from Substance Use Disorder (SUD) need your support! One of the most important means of doing so is to help support transitional housing (apartments/room sharing in a house). In transitional housing, participants continue their treatment in a supportive and nurturing environment. Participants attend meetings, assist others with SUD, and help with household chores. Please help us to help those in recovery.
